

CHILD SLAVERY ALLEGED AT ORPHAN FARM IN EAST ACTON

INMATES ARE BRUTALLY TREATED, SAY WOMEN

The down, white women, candidates have banded together through their chieftain to demand an exposure of the alleged abuses practiced on defenseless children.

CHILD BEATEN, SHE SAYS.

Louise Reilly, a talented high school girl, who was placed at the Smith home, where she received her board in return for working about the house and farm, claims she was beaten so severely by Mrs. Smith that she fled the house and sought refuge in the barn of Henry Warden, a neighboring farmer.

Awakened in the calm of a summer's night by the heartrending wails of the motherless girl, Warden rouned himself, hurried to the barn and there, buried in the depths of the hay, he found the prostrate form of the girl.

"FLESH MARKED BY BLOW"

Warden carried her tenderly to his home, where Mrs. Warden comforted her. When she prepared the girl for bed, she found the child's flesh hideously marked with swollen ridges from a beating, she asserts.

At this point Smith arrived, demanded the child, and when refused, threatened law action. It was claimed, Mrs. Warden, however, refused to surrender the girl.

In the morning the story spread throughout the town, and served to crystallize sentiment for an investigation of the orphan farm.

Smith, who conducts the farm with his wife, receives children from time to time from a Boston home. He is given $4 a week for their board and is permitted to require the children to do small chores about the house, but neighbors say the children are wanted to do much more from early morn till night they are toiling in the fields.

MILK & COWS.

The Reilly girl, who is one of the smartest in her class in the local high school, is required to arise at 5 in the morning and milk four cows, and in the evening to milk seven cows. In return for her board, a neighboring farmer donated it was impossible, even at $2 a month was board, to secure a third cow for the seven cows, yet this same child of a girl did it, and was beaten in the bargain, it is alleged.

From Mrs. Smith comes a different version of the story she declares Louise was quarreling with another orphan boy, had a painful blow on him and refused to let go, whereupon Mrs. Smith struck her with a lath until she let go. Upon interview the child admitted she had been quarreling with another boy.

Strange stories, however, are abroad concerning the farm, with the chief of the local police, Mary Brown, to whom complaint has been made. It is said, has displayed an active disposition to hush the whole matter up.

At the present time there are seven children on the farm: William MacSorley, age fourteen; Robert MacSorley, twelve; and Robert MacSorley, thirteen; Francis Hamilton, eight; Mary Hamilton, seventeen; Edward Clifford, six, and Robert Coughlin, five, who was put on the farm to build up, after going through seven stages of pneumonia.

Among the instances of overwork cited by neighbors, who can view the children in the field when they are not at school, they are working early in the morning and often as late as 11 o'clock at night in the asparagus season, working in the hot sun all day, digging 20-quart milk cans on wheelbarrows through the sandy roads for over one-quarter of a mile, working in the pouring rain, heavy farm work, haying and toting wheelbarrows laden with asparagus.

PICKING ASPARAGUS.

The representative of the Boston American saw three youngsters of the ages eight, twelve, and thirteen respectively, engaged in picking asparagus and hauling it on a wheelbarrow. The youngsters were well-dressed and rugged, and appeared to be well fed. No complaint has been made about their food.

Smith, it is understood, used to have the privilege of harvesting the hay crop of Chief of Police Brown, but the latter cancelled the agreement, because the crop was harvested by the orphan children, work which was too arduous, he claimed.

Mrs. Smith says she has been a mother to the children, that they have done nothing but light chores around the house and have attended school regularly and even Sunday school.

Chief of Police Brown states that there is not enough complaint to cause action on the part of the officials, and significantly added that "Smith ought to be given another chance; that whatever was wrong in the past would be rectified."

Smith is president of the local grange, enjoys the town's contracts for carrying the school children, and is quite prosperous. He says the stories have been circulated by neighbors envious of his success. Smith has been on his farm for thirteen years.

$12,000 Fire in Caribou

Caribou, Maine, June 15.—Fire of unknown origin early today burned five houses in the poorer section of this town, known as the "Flats."

The total loss was about $12,000. The forest fire in this section were reported well under control today.

Soon after Smith finished, Joe Kirkwood, the Australian, who is now a resident of the United States, came in with a 59, equalling Smith's record for the course, giving him an aggregate of 230 for the three rounds.

Walter Hagen, the title holder, shot a 74, giving him an aggregate of 231 for the 34 holes.

Marvelous putting and long driving were the features of his third round play, snatching him to get a 33 on the long and tortuous house route and 69 for the round.

His card read:

Out: 44 45 46 47 48 49
In: 44 45 46 47 48 49
Hagen started off with four 4s and a 3 and went out in one under par. His play coming in was marked by the same steadiness except at the tenth, where he topped his drive and landed in an immense sand trap. His second lodged in the heather bush and on his third he had a baulking lie so that it took him four to the green and the hole cost him six strokes. His card:

Out: 44 45 46 47 48 49
In: 44 45 46 47 48 49

Four British competitors, T. R. Fennie, G. Lockhart, J. Brown and W. M. Watt, came next with scores of 223 each for the three rounds.

Lee Diegel, the American, shot a 73 for third round, a fine performance, but he was practically out of the running, as he had 149 for yesterday's play, bringing his total up to 223.

Michael came along with a 72, bringing his total to 226, and George Duncan followed with 74, making 228 for the three rounds.

BOOTLEGGERS FOR STATE OFFICIALS ARE CAPTURED

...and his name was Thompson. He was about forty-five, and had gray hair, I believe. There was a lady with him.

SENTENCE STANDS.
"He talked to me about the case," I told him that the sentence would have to stand."

"Did he intimate that Wilkey had been political influence in Massachusetts?" the judge was asked.

"I rather gathered from his conversation that he had political influence and that very influential men in Massachusetts were interested in the young man."

BOASTED OF "INFLUENCE."
Previously he had boasted of "powerful political influence" in Massachusetts and is reported to have termed police officers "hay driers" when he defied them to stop his smuggling.

Judge Wright told The Boston American today: "There was a man up from Boston a short time ago to see me about this case. I think he was about forty-five, and had gray hair, I believe. There was a lady with him.

"He talked to me about the case," I told him that the sentence would have to stand."

"Did he intimate that Wilkey had been political influence in Massachusetts?" the judge was asked.

"I rather gathered from his conversation that he had political influence and that very influential men in Massachusetts were interested in the young man."

Judge Wright denied all knowledge of any bootlegging charges being made against the man for whom he intervened. He further declared that he never made any offer of help or attempted to threaten any official.

In his statement he asserted that a "very dear friend" came to him and urged that he aid a young man who had been "railroaded in jail" because of the persecution of a personal enemy.

The youth, according to Bartlett's statement, had been sentenced to ten days in jail for operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor.

WIFE ILL IN BOSTON.
Bartlett said that he did get a stay of sentence for the accused so that he could visit his wife, who was sick in Boston.

Vermont officials at Montpelier charged the arrested man as notorious rumrunner who had boasted openly of "powerful connections" in Massachusetts and who had, on occasions, defied police officials to arrest him.

These officials further declared the "well known Boston lobbyist" and others interested had declared the "important Massachusetts persons" personally interested in the rumrunner.

BARTLETT'S STATEMENT.
Bartlett's statement follows:—

"Last Fall a very dear friend of mine asked me to intercede with me in the case of a young man who, he said, had been sentenced to serve ten days in a Vermont jail because of the malicious persecution by a personal enemy."

"The young man told me he had been in Vermont visiting with relatives, that he had been in Canada briefly and that he was sitting in his auto in front of the hotel in Derby, Vt., when a police official seized him, dragged him from his car, and haled him into court on a charge of operating while under the influence of liquor."

"The young man said he and the police officer had served in the same unit in France, that they had come to blows and that the trouble had never been reconciled. The injustice which the young man suffered seemed especially severe because of his statement that since his arrest and conviction his wife had become dangerously ill and was confined in a hospital."

"I obtained letters of introduction from Governor Cox to Governor Hartness and from Secretary of State Cook to Secretary of State Wilkey of Vermont."

"I visited both gentlemen, also Mr. Piddick, the Republican National Committeeman from Vermont, and also Judge Wright."

"I requested each of the three former gentlemen to investigate the young man's statement that he had been railroaded, telling them I felt confident that, if his charges were legally to be true, they would obtain justice for him."

"I requested Judge Wright, who had already found the young man guilty of a charge of operating while under the influence of liquor, to enable the young man to remain with his wife during her illness and to adjust some of his business."

STAY OF SENTENCE.
While I did not mention the young man's charges of railroadings, Judge Wright kindly granted the request that he postpone the stay of sentence upon the promise that the young man would return when his presence was demanded."

"Judge Wright was the police officer who arrested the young man and against whom the young man made the charge of malicious persecution to me."

"I visited Sheriff Young and asked his version of the arrest. He said it was true that he and the young man had trouble in France, but that he considered that episode a matter of the past, that he bore no malice for the young man and that the young man had been driving his car while under the influence of liquor."

IN "BAD COMPANY."
I learned from him and other officials that the feeling was keen in Derby because so many veterans had been coming in from Canada and driving recklessly and dangerously through the streets."

"After I had heard Sheriff Young's version my interest in the case ceased. The young man returned and served his sentence."

"Neither then nor since nor at any other time had I heard any accusation of bootlegging relative to him. The Vermont officials told me that during his visit to Vermont, the young man had been seen in the company of 'a bad lot.' But I gathered they happened to be schoolboy friends who were guilty of nothing serious."

"Governor Hartness treated me with the utmost cordiality. I discussed the matter with him in his office. Governor Hartness, Sheriff Young and Mr. Piddick all well verily my statement that I urged them merely to see that the young man obtained a square deal and that neither they nor I at any time intimated anything that might be construed as political influence."

RAYED AN FRIEND.
The letters I received in Boston were written merely to gain me an audience with the Vermont officials."

"So far as I know there was never any intimation that the young man was implicated in any bootlegging scandal. I have never heard it suggested."

"I was attempting to be as fair as I could to a very dear friend of mine. I had never known the boy. He was an entire stranger to me. If he has since become involved in other trouble or if he has made boasts of any alleged influence with public officials, I have not heard of it."

AMHERST HEAD TO FIGHT ATTEMPT TO OUST HIM

REFUSES TO QUIT OFFICE

J. P. Morgan Official Is Reported Ready to Be His Successor

Amherst, June 15.—Dr. Alexander McKeljohn, president of Amherst College, will fight opposition to his administration and threatened attempts to oust him.

"The fight is always worth fighting for," he said. "I cannot quit." Many of the trustees, alumni and faculty members of the college are combining efforts to oust Dr. McKeljohn.

The undergraduate body is united in its support of the president.

David W. Morgan of the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co., a member of the class of '81, is said to be ready to accept the presidency of Amherst in case Dr. McKeljohn resigns or is ousted.

D. E. Meyer of Willow Grove, Pa., a leader of the senior class, expressed the belief that the move against Dr. McKeljohn is not because of personal dislike, but in a conflict between two theories of education. He said:

"The controversy is apparently between the members of the old school, who believe that the primary function of education is to teach the student the eternal verities as laid down in text books, as against the new group led by the president, who believe that any educational policy should develop a trained mind by presenting facts only, and then various opinions concerning them, always proceeding that the student is an intelligent person capable of forming an own opinion."

ELEVATOR FATALITY

FIRST RIDE IS FATAL
Sophie Spector, in inset, and photo diagram of Cambridge accident showing how she was killed when her head struck inner door of elevator.

ELEVATOR MAN ARRESTED FOR GIRL'S DEATH

Miss Spector, operator of the elevator at No. 414 Massachusetts avenue, Cambridge, in which nineteen-year-old Sophie Spector of Mattapan, Russian refugee, taking her first ride in an elevator, lost her life, was arrested on a charge of manslaughter in connection with the girl's death.

He was released to $1,000 bail and will be arraigned in Cambridge District Court.

Miss Spector, who escaped from the Bolsheviks after they had murdered her parents, was fatally hurt when her head struck the inner door of the elevator.

The police charge Sawyer with negligence in connection with the accident. They learned that he had failed to close the inside door of the elevator as was required and that there were ten passengers on the car at the time, whereas the limit of its capacity is seven.

The police also were informed that Miss Spector was pushed to her death by other girls who were "fooling" with her. All of the girls were seeking employment in the building at the Chester Manufacturing Company.

Miss Spector was accompanied by Miss Sophie Mazzer, who was to act as her interpreter. The victim lived with a sister, Mrs. Rose Green at No. 27 Dorrington street, Mattapan.

Sawyer, who lives at No. 254 Essex street, Cambridge, told the police the girl collapsed after the car started and fell to the floor, striking her head.

CAMPER JAILED 60 DAYS FOR STARTING $7,000 FIRE

Rochester, N. H., June 15.—Daniel Webster of Farmington, Me., fifty-five years old, an umbrella repairer, camped in a grove below the electric car barn on the Dover road and warmed frankfurts with canned heat. A fire in the underbrush was kindled and as a result $7,000 of boards belonging to the electric car barn on the Dover road, were destroyed. Webster was jailed for sixty days.

ATWOOD BLAMES FACULTY MEMBERS FOR SERIOUS RAP

Worcester, June 15.—President Wallace W. Atwood of Clark University blames the professors there for the resolution recently adopted by the student class criticizing his administration. In a brief statement, he said: "I have been told that the resolution was formulated and passed at a small meeting of the senior class, at the suggestion of three men whose names have been given to me. I consider the resolution quite in keeping with the senior class in character."

LEVIATHAN BID BY BUSCH WAS "TOO HIGH"

New York, June 15.—Charges by Asa-Busch of St. Louis, leather manufacturer, that his products had been barred from the Leviathan because of a controversy between himself and Chairman Lasker regarding the sale of automobiles on Shipping Board vessels were termed "unfounded" today by W. H. Cline of the line.

"Under our contract with the Shipping Board we have complete charge of the trial trip of the Leviathan, including provisioning her," he said. "Naturally we asked for and received a great many bids."

"Among them was one from Mr. Busch, which was not accepted, like many others, probably for the reason that another company submitted a lower figure."

WOMAN TRIES TO DIE, THEN TAKES PLEDGE

Mrs. Monica Gately, who has often tried to commit suicide in the cells of the Roxbury police station, today took the pledge of sobriety in the Roxbury court and was released in the care of relatives. She was arrested some months ago and hung herself with a sheeting in her cell. When she was cut down she was taken to the City Hospital and nearly died. She was given a suspended sentence at the State Farm, which expires next November.

Last Sunday night she was arrested on another charge, and hung herself with the belt of her coat.

CANADIAN HOUSE FOR RECIPROCITY

Ottawa, June 15.—The Canadian House of Commons endorsed an offer of tariff reciprocity to the United States. "If we don't have the closest possible trade relations with the United States in a reasonable time, I don't think that we shall be able to preserve our civilization," said W. C. Good, Free-trade member for Brant, Ont., in supporting the proposal to offer reciprocity.

The offer specifies certain commodities and was modified from its original form, as submitted several weeks ago by the Minister of Finance, to restrict relations of duties by Canada to a greater basis than those made by the United States.

FILES $50,000 SLANDER SUIT AGAINST BANK

Declaring his character has been besmirched as a result of an indictment charging "larceny returned against him on complaint of officers of the Massachusetts National Bank of Lowell, Fred S. Moore, president and treasurer of the Union National Bank of Lowell, today filed a $50,000 suit against the bank and two of the officers charged slavery.

Control for Mr. Moore said today that the information and data were the outcome of a business transaction in 1920 between Moore and the bank.

Moore borrowed $10,000 from the institution, giving $10,000 worth of leather shoes as collateral, they say.

That the bank has allowed the collateral to be sold at a price below its worth, that the leather has been allowed to deteriorate in value and that his character and integrity have been assailed by William H. O'Brien, president of the bank, in Moore's presence before a committee of the House of Representatives, is the allegation of Mr. Moore.

Originally the leather stood at $10,000, but the bank sold it for $5,000, plaintiff's attorney says. The further the suit is carried, the $17,000 has been raised in and applied to the bank.

DRUGGISTS SAY RUM BOOMING AS MEDICINE

Whiskey and brandy are more popular than ever among physicians as a medicine.

The use of distilled liquors for medicinal purposes, however, has decreased due to prohibition, thus preventing the druggists from supplying the demand.

These are the beliefs of many of the 600 druggists who attended the 42nd annual convention of the Massachusetts State Pharmaceutical Association in Seapoint.

The druggists are chafing not only at the limited allowance ruling and at the more recent regulation forbidding them to fill a prescription for one party after another than once in 30 days, but also at a provision of the Harrison Anti-Narcotic Act, which makes the retail druggist a violator of the law if he sells from an opened package of narcotics.

The election of officers for the coming year resulted as follows: President, Fred E. Jones of Lowell; first vice-president, C. Fred Wright of Boston; second vice-president, Maurice W. Curtis, Worcester; secretary, James F. Curtis, Worcester; and treasurer, John J. Tobin, Boston.

A banquet closed the convention.

BOY SAVES CHUM FROM DEATH IN CHARLES

Leslie Williams, seventeen years old, of No. 40A Columbia avenue, rescued his chum, Earl Singer, of No. 45 Worcester street, from drowning in the Charles River, after their canoe capsized near the Harvard Bridge. The striver youth was unable to swim.

A gust of wind overturned the craft. Williams grabbed his friend by the hair. Holding him with one hand, he swam on his back to the overturned canoe and heaved the exhausted youth over the bow.

Williams then retrieved a paddle which was floating a short distance away and straddling the overturned canoe, paddled several hundred yards to the Cambridge shore. A small crowd which gathered the rescue lowered a rope to Williams and aided him in getting his chum over the wall.

Williams himself was exhausted and both he and Singer were taken to the Charles River Hospital, where the latter was resuscitated and after treatment was allowed to go home.

Spectators and police said the rescue was one of the most thrilling ever made in the Charles River basin.

Williams recently was discharged from the navy because he was underage. He made a false statement as to his birth when enlisting.

HOW HEROIC YOUTH RESCUED COMRADE

While paddling in Charles River, Leslie Williams, No. 40A Columbia avenue, and Earl Singer, No. 45 Worcester street, were spilled into the water by the overturning of their craft. Singer couldn't swim. Williams dragged him to the overturned canoe, laid him on top and paddled for shore. Inset are, bottom, left, Leslie Williams; top, right, Earl Singer.

WALL ST. WOLF NOW SOUGHT IN FRANCE

New York, June 15.—Just 137 days ago, Edward Lamar, wolf of Wall street, packed up and vanished. A phony bill awaits the most daring and successful pirate who ever tormented New York's great financial district, but justice has been unable to lay her hands upon him.

"I do not believe he is in the country, but somewhere in France," said United States Marshal William C. Hoch.

SOUGHT ABROAD.

"Investment agents are still seeking him. If he is trapped abroad he will be extradited."

Runners are told that Lamar had his finger in the bookkeeping pin, and that he was to give himself up to the authorities. This, however, seemed a pipe dream after an extensive investigation.

Delay caused by the unwinding of official red tape gave the wolf opportunity to slip away after the Supreme Court denied Lamar's appeal against a one-year sentence for causing strikes and lockouts during the war. Lamar was with Capt. Franz von Rintelen, high commissioner in America for the Kaiser at that time.

FOUR-DAY DELAY.

John E. Joyce, then head of the criminal department in the United States attorney's office, did not ask for a bench warrant for Lamar's arrest until four days after the wolf had been ordered jailed. That was on Jan. 23 last.

The Wolf took advantage of the lapse of time by packing his baggage at the Hotel de France and disappearing.

The Wolf is dirty-fine. In 1922, two women of beauty and wealth brought charges against him. Mrs. Isaac H. Bennett, widow of a one-time prominent lawyer, charged that Lamar had seduced her out of an old stock, and Mrs. Estelle V. Allison, a prominent advertising woman and artist, made similar charges.

He is believed to have formed a partnership with Celestia Thurston, No. 74 Broadway, formerly of Carlisle, Mellick & Co.

TECH STUDENT JAILED; RUNS AUTO WHILE DRUNK

Fourteen days in the House of Correction was the sentence given to Sergio Ortiz, a Technology student, today by Judge Palmer in Roxbury court for operating an automobile in the Fenway while under the influence of liquor. He fined the student $5 for drunkenness. Ortiz, who lives at No. 416 Marlboro street, Back Bay, appeared.

ARREST BLUE-EYED GIRL AS BANDIT-SLAYER

Chicago, June 15.—Peggy Le Roux, a musician, another blue-eyed, smiling suspect, was arrested here today in connection with the slaying June 2 of Richard C. Teemer, wealthy Chicago insurance man.

She was to be taken before Mrs. Teemer for possible identification.

White told the court of arresting Ortiz when his machine was clearing from one side of the roadway to the other Judge Palmer asked the student: "Why shouldn't you go to jail. I see no better way of stopping this sort of thing than to send a few offenders to jail." Ortiz said he thought a fine would have the desired effect.

The police arrested Mrs. Bertha Schillo on suspicion but Mrs. Teemer failed to identify her.

DOROTHY PLEASED AT NEW GUARDIAN

Dorothy Fawcett Gordon, business, has just learned from her uncle, John D. Gardner, of Baldwin, L. I., that a new guardian has been appointed to administer his estate.

It is a pleasant surprise, said on June 6 of A. J. Loring, John D. O'Donnell, of Lowell, as permanent guardian of her interests, seemed to please Miss Gordon.

When told by her "Uncle Jack" that she might soon be taken from the McLean Hospital, Waverly, where she is confined, the unhappy heiress answered, "I hope so, Uncle Jack."

When the Horse-Car set the Pace for Broadway!

CIGAR smokers of the horse-car days chose PIPPINS because they were the finest cigar value that had been produced at that time.

FORBES' VIEWS ON FINANCE

By B. C. Forbes

This article shows where the heads of America's leading industrial and twenty of our leading railroad companies fall from the road. The road does not bear out the popular assumption that grants from the West become the directing heads of a majority of our largest enterprises.

True, the Middle West is very strongly represented, but, even so, no Middle Western State is so well represented as New York or Pennsylvania in the industrial table. Ohio leads Illinois and Michigan and Wisconsin.

The States which have produced the largest number of important railroads heads are Pennsylvania, with Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and New York tied for second place.

The States which have supplied industrial leaders rank as follows:

New York..... N. Hampshire..... Ohio..... Massachusetts..... Michigan..... Vermont..... Illinois..... Pennsylvania..... New Jersey..... Connecticut..... New England.....
